Andrew is a student working in BLG's Toronto office for the summer of 2025.

Andrew is Toronto native who just recently transferred to Western Law from the Washburn School of Law in Kansas. There he was a member of the Law Journal and the Negotiation Team. Prior to law school he was a trial assistant and litigation consultant, working in medical malpractice trials all over the United States.

Andrew chose BLG for his summer after having the opportunity to meet with some of the very talented associates and partners and learning about the diverse practice areas and welcoming work environment.

When Andrew isn't working or studying, he is often playing tabletop games with friends, riding his bike, reading history books, or working on a Lego project.
