

Organizations in the aviation industry require tailored, proactive and effective advocacy and advice to meet their objectives and protect their interests.

Our skilled team of lawyers has a long history of providing general litigation services—including commercial arbitration and alternative dispute resolution solutions—to our clients in the aviation sector.

We have extensive experience in handling a wide range of claims, including:

- personal injury (including fatalities)
- Transport Canada investigations
- product liability issues
- aviation insurance

We act for general aviation operators, airlines, commercial air services, FBOs, manufacturers, suppliers, airports and ground handlers in all aspects of litigation related to any aviation matter.

We work closely with colleagues in other specialized areas, including banking, capital markets, insolvency, competition, employment and tax to anticipate your needs and ensure comprehensive, cost-effective services.
