Andrian Lozinski is a corporate lawyer with a sophisticated practice focused on high-value domestic and cross-border transactions, advising clients across a broad range of industries, including manufacturing, construction, technology and AI, and product and software distribution.

He regularly acts for strategic acquirors, private equity sponsors, founders and growth-stage companies on complex mergers and acquisitions, corporate finance transactions, and multi-jurisdictional reorganizations. Andrian brings a commercially driven and solutions-oriented approach to structuring and executing transactions, with a particular strength in navigating regulatory, operational, and cross-border considerations.

Andrian's practice spans private equity and venture capital investments, corporate governance, and shareholder matters, as well as the structuring and negotiation of intricate commercial arrangements. He has significant experience advising on complex construction and infrastructure projects, including the negotiation of major project and development agreements, and frequently supports clients on franchise system structuring, disclosure compliance, and ongoing operational matters.

He also advises on healthcare transactions, including acquisitions, joint ventures and operational structuring for medical clinics, seniors' living facilities and long-term care homes, where he integrates regulatory sensitivity with transactional efficiency.

Clients rely on Andrian for his precision, responsiveness and ability to manage transactions from inception through closing with a disciplined, detail-oriented approach.
