Priti is an associate in the Disputes group, where she maintains a broad litigation practice with a focus on health law.

During law school, Priti gained advocacy experience working at legal aid clinics, where she advised and assisted members of the community on a variety of legal matters. She served as an externship student with the Health Justice Program: a medico-legal partnership designed to improve access to legal services for low-income patients of a Family Health Team. Priti also developed strong legal research and writing skills as a Senior Editor of the University of Toronto Faculty of Law Review.

Priti summered and articulated with BLG before returning as an associate. During her articles she was seconded to the legal department at Unity Health Toronto where she gained experience advising on a wide range of matters affecting the hospital network.
