

Federal Financial Institutions Legislative and Regulatory Reporter - December 2025

January 19, 2026

The Federal Financial Institutions Legislative and Regulatory Reporter (the Reporter) provides a monthly summary of Canadian federal legislative and regulatory developments of relevance to federally regulated financial institutions. It does not address Canadian provincial financial services legislative and regulatory developments. In addition, purely technical and administrative changes (such as changes to reporting forms) are not covered.

Financial Well-Being and Consumer Protection

This summary report from FCAC and the Global Risk Institute summarizes the findings of a workshop held November 13, 2025, by FIFAI II. The workshop examined AI risks, opportunities and best practices in the financial sector, and focused on financial well-being and consumer protection. Three key principles to support AI adoption and safeguard consumers:

- Inclusion by Design, meaning that financial institutions should integrate

With the growing digitalization of finance, banks have become increasingly dependent on third-party service providers for services that banks had previously not undertaken. These new principles are meant to reflect this larger and more diverse third-party service provider environment in the banking sector. | |

| | The Basel Committee on Banking Supervision has launched a consultation on Machine-readable Pillar 3 disclosure. It proposes to make the data disclosed by banks (so-called Pillar 3 disclosures) available in a standardized machine-readable format. Although Pillar 3 disclosures by internationally active banks under the Basel Committee's standards are an important source of their key risk metrics, most banks currently publish their disclosures in PDF format only. This makes it difficult to aggregate, process and compare data across banks. The proposed standard would introduce a | |
