Campbell is an articling student at BLG's Toronto office. She brings an interdisciplinary approach to her work, combining her legal studies with experience in the financial services sector.

Prior to attending law school, Campbell worked for a major Canadian bank. She also spent a summer as a legal intern at one of Canada's largest financial infrastructure organizations. Campbell is passionate about her community. As a law student, she volunteered with Pro Bono Students Canada, where she supported underserved women by providing legal resources. Campbell also provided free legal services to local Kingston businesses, volunteering with Queen's Business Law Clinic.

Campbell chose to join BLG as she admired the firm's collaborative and supportive culture. Throughout the interview process, she was struck by the authenticity and kindness of the people she met. The meaningful connections she built and sense of belonging she felt made BLG an easy choice.

In Campbell's spare time, you can find her at a spin class, discovering new restaurants, or walking her bulldog Tink.
