New counsel Andrew Zinman joins BLG's national Labour & Employment group

Toronto (March 6, 2024) – Borden Ladner Gervais LLP (BLG) is adding more management-side labour and employment experience in Toronto by welcoming Andrew Zinman to the firm as counsel.

Andrew's expertise covers a broad range of administrative tribunal proceedings. He acts as counsel to hospitals, nursing homes, construction companies, manufacturers, schools, as well as businesses of all sizes and all types of employment arrangements. He regularly represents employers in collective bargaining negotiations and grievance settlements and regularly advocates on behalf of clients in rights and interest arbitration proceedings. Andrew also frequently represents employers before the Labour Relations Board and the Human Rights Tribunal.

"Andrew is uniquely positioned to provide management-side, workplace law advice to businesses in the public and private sectors," says Graham Walker, national head of BLG's specialized disputes group. "He will be a great complement to our national team as we continue to grow and strengthen our capabilities across the country."

With labour, employment and education specialists across Canada, BLG is the leading national law firm providing full-service legal representation in both official languages to school boards, independent schools and education sector clients.
