OSFI	April 12, 2021	ICAAP Expectations and BCAR Audit Requirements	Submissions by February 28, 2022

		OSFI last wrote to all Standardized Deposit-Taking Institutions (DTIs) on October 23, 2018, communicating expectations for the 2019 ICAAP submission and internal audit of BCAR. The purpose of this communication was to confirm that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • OSFI will not require a formal ICAAP submission in 2021; and • OSFI will require Standardized DTIs to file an internal audit of their BCAR return by February 28, 2022. ICAAP Expectations While Standardized DTIs are not required to submit a formal ICAAP for 2021, OSFI expects that institutions will continue to practice prudent capital management. This includes the continued implementation of their ICAAP program to identify, quantify and substantiate to their boards the Pillar 2 risks that underpin their target capital levels. Standardized DTIs should treat the ICAAP as an important internal process rather than as a “regulatory” exercise. Lead Supervisors may request ICAAP documentation as part of OSFI's ongoing supervisory review process. OSFI guidelines E-19 Internal Capital Adequacy Assessment Program and E-23 Enterprise-Wide Model Risk Management provide further detail on the requirement to institute an ICAAP process, including robust model governance for Pillar 2 risk quantification. Internal audit review of BCAR The next set of internal audits of the 2021 BCAR return must be submitted to OSFI by February 28, 2022. As with previous practice, OSFI expects each institution's Internal Audit function to provide their OSFI Lead Supervisor with the following audit:

IAIS	April 9, 2021	Redefining insurance supervision for the new normal – joint IAIS-FSI note published today The Covid-19 pandemic tested the operational resilience and adaptability of insurers and supervisory authorities worldwide. OSFI	April 8, 2021	OSFI proposes new minimum qualifying rate for uninsured mortgages	Comments by May 7, 2021.

		OSFI restarted its consultation on the minimum qualifying rate for uninsured mortgages, and re-emphasized the importance of sound mortgage underwriting. The new proposal for the qualifying rate for uninsured mortgages is the higher of the mortgage contract rate plus 2 per cent or 5.25 per cent as a minimum floor. Additionally, OSFI announced a proposal to revisit the calibration of the qualifying rate at least once a year to ensure it remains appropriate for the risks in the environment. OSFI sought input from interested stakeholders on this proposed qualifying rate by email to B.20@osfi-bsif.gc.ca before May 7, 2021. OSFI will communicate final amendments to the qualifying rate for uninsured mortgages in Guideline B-20 by May 24, 2021, with a coming into force date of June 1, 2021.	Coming into Force June 1, 2021.
Bank of Canada	April 6, 2021	Bank of Canada to begin publishing CORRA Compounded Index As administrator of the Canadian Overnight Repo Rate Average (CORRA), the Bank of Canada (Bank) will begin publishing the CORRA Compounded Index effective April 6, 2021. It will also publish the first

		quarterly summary of publication errors at the same time. The CORRA Compounded Index is a measure of the cumulative impact of CORRA daily compounding over time, starting from a base value of 100 on June 12, 2020. The index can be used to calculate CORRA compounded rate between any two dates. The calculation and publishing process for the CORRA Compounded Index has been added to the CORRA methodology. For illustrative examples of the compounding methodology and sample use of CORRA Compounded Index, see the consultation paper. By making this index publicly available, the bank makes it easier for market participants to calculate interest and coupon payments for securities that use daily compounded CORRA-in-arrears. The Canadian Alternative Reference Rate working group encourages the use of this compounding methodology for financial products. This methodology is also consistent with the approach taken by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and the Bank of England for their respective reference rates.

		To support the transparency of CORRA and its data quality, the bank will disclose on a quarterly basis the summary information on the calculation, publication and reporting of errors that are detected after publication. Despite verifications made by Investment Industry Regulatory Organization of Canada (IIROC) and the bank, data late submissions or revisions made by reporting entities after the submission deadline, or technical difficulties experienced by the bank or IIROC may, on occasion, affect data quality and ultimately CORRA. These details are provided for information purposes only. After the CORRA republication deadline has passed, no amendments will be made to the published CORRA rate under any circumstances. The bank publishes this important Canadian interest rate benchmark and its associated statistics at no cost and as a public good. The bank is committed to ensuring that CORRA is: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • a robust, reliable and representative measure of the secured overnight funding rate; • readily available for use globally

OSFI	April 6, 2021	OSFI unwinds temporary increase to covered bond limit OSFI announced the unwinding of the temporary increase to the covered bond limit, effective immediately. One year ago, OSFI introduced extraordinary regulatory adjustments to support the financial and operational resilience of federally regulated financial institutions (FRFIs) in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. These measures included a temporary increase to the covered bond limit to facilitate greater access to Bank of Canada facilities. Covered bonds are debt securities issued by a financial institution that are collateralized against a pool of assets designed to cover claims should an issuer fail. OSFI normally limits a bank's issuance of covered bonds to 5.5 per cent of the bank's total assets. The temporary increase in the limit

		targeted covered bonds pledged directly to the Bank of Canada, with the limit relating to market instruments (covered bonds sold into the market) still set at 5.5 per cent. When OSFI announced the temporary increase to the covered bond limit on March 27, 2020, it was noted that the increase would be provided for at least one year, but could be extended beyond this if needed. Throughout the past year, OSFI has continued to monitor banks' liquidity and access to term funding, which have stabilized considerably since measures were initially put in place. Further, on October 15, 2020 the Bank of Canada removed own-name covered bonds from their list of eligible securities for regular term repo operations. As such, the temporary increase to the covered bond limit by OSFI is no longer necessary. For specific guidance, please see the letter issued to federally regulated deposit-taking institutions issuing covered bonds.
FSB	April 6, 2021	FSB seeks stakeholders' feedback on their experience with the common template for gathering information about continuity of access to financial market	Comment by May 3, 2021

		infrastructures (FMIs) for firms in resolution The Financial Stability Board (FSB) is conducting a survey to gather stakeholders' feedback on its common template for collecting information on continuity of access to financial market infrastructures (FMIs) for firms in resolution. The common template for financial market infrastructures (FMIs), which takes the form of a questionnaire (the Questionnaire), was published in August 2020. The use of a common template should reduce the "many to one" nature of inquiries from FMI participants and authorities to FMIs for resolution planning and streamline the provision of this information by FMIs to firms and authorities. This survey is part of the FSB's outreach strategy with external stakeholders regarding the topic of continuity of access to FMIs for firms in resolution. Several bank resolution authorities are, concurrently, also working to provide FMIs with further insight into their bank resolution toolkits and the impact of these tools on a bank's ability to maintain continuity of access to FMI services in resolution. All FMIs (as providers of responses to the

		Questionnaire) as well as firms subject to a resolution planning requirement and bank resolution authorities (as users of FMI's responses to the Questionnaire) are encouraged to participate in this online survey. Stakeholders' input will support the efforts of FSB member authorities to ensure the Questionnaire template remains relevant and accessible, and help to reduce the burden of information gathering for firms on this topic. The survey closed on Monday, May 3.
