

Eneon joins US Clean Energy

April 24, 2019

On April 6, 2023, Eneon ES (Eneon), a leading North American battery energy storage system solutions provider, announced it is joining US Clean Energy (USCE), a clean energy platform and holding company. The strategic move broadens Eneon's reach into the rapidly expanding US battery energy storage market, increases its access to capital, and accelerates its growth.

Battery Energy Storage Systems are an increasingly vital element in any decarbonization strategy and an indispensable component of the clean energy ecosystem, as well as a key factor in the optimization of future energy systems. This acquisition continues USCE's investment in market leading renewable energy technologies and service providers.
