Geneviève Paradis has worked as a paralegal in civil and commercial litigation for almost twenty years. She has extensive experience in:

- Commercial law
- Bankruptcy and insolvency law
- Hypothecary claims
- Product liability

She assists lawyers in drafting procedures and carries out documentary review to prepare, manage and organize evidence. She also conducts searches in various legal registries and databases.

Geneviève also practiced for many years at an international aerospace company. She was involved in the organization and coordination of complex litigation cases, mostly in Canada and the United States, that involved clients, suppliers and aircraft accidents. She assisted with fact-based investigations to compile documentation from various sources and databases. She was responsible for issuing Litigation Holds to preserve information and to ensure that document collection was conducted in compliance with applicable rules of e-discovery. Her role was also to coordinate internal resources worldwide, external counsel, insurers and experts.
