Griffin is an articling student at BLG's Toronto office for the 2023-24 articling term. He is focusing on business law.

During his time as a law student, Griffin volunteered and worked for his school's Investor Protection Clinic, led business operations for the student newspaper Ultra Vires, served as a peer mentor, edited for the Law Review, and both competed and coached in the Winkler Class Actions Moot. Off campus, Griffin was able to give back to the community by conducting pro bono governance research for Casey House and by working on build sites for Habitat for Humanity. Prior to law school, Griffin worked for three years in the investment management industry.

Griffin was inspired to work at BLG because of its strong investment management practice and because of its commitment to supporting a collegial atmosphere and an entrepreneurial spirit across the firm.

Outside of work, Griffin enjoys long-distance running, playing basketball, and trying to fix his handicap on the golf course.
