Marilou Léger has considerable experience managing documents in major litigation cases, notably in the fields of:

- Construction
- Professional liability
- Fraud
- Insurance
- Class actions
- Animal law

Her main role is to assist lawyers working in construction law. She is called upon to perform a variety of duties for them, including preparing and managing exhibits, as well as compiling, organizing, digitizing and indexing documents. She also conducts research in various registers and legal databases, drafts procedures and handles examinations and trial preparation work.

Marilou is continuously furthering her knowledge by participating regularly in various conferences and training sessions, especially those provided by the Canadian Association of Paralegals.
